This email has been sent bcc to avoid accidental "reply-all" messages

Thank you for expressing interest in the Quendall Terminals Superfund site. EPA is releasing our Proposed Plans to clean up the creosote contamination at the Quendall Terminals.

In this email you'll find:

- EPA opens a 30-day comment period, September 9 – October 9, on the Quendall Terminals Proposed Plans
- The three ways to submit comments on the Proposed Plans
- Please join us for an open house and presentation, and the opportunity to provide comments, on September 24
- Documents are available for review

EPA opens a 30-day comment period, September 9 – October 9, on the Quendall Terminals Proposed Plans

There are three ways to submit comments:

- Give oral comment at the public hearing September 24, 2019 or hand in written comments during the open house
- Email cerise.kathryn@epa.gov
- Mail written comments to:
Quendall Terminals Comments
Kathryn Cerise, 12-D12-1
U.S. EPA Region 10
1200 Sixth Avenue, Suite 155
Seattle, WA 98101

Read EPA's Tips for Effective Comments

All comments are considered equally. EPA will place all comments and a summary of EPA's response to the comments in EPA's Administrative Record for the Quendall Terminals Superfund Site.

Please join us for an open house and presentation, and the opportunity to provide comments, on September 24, 2019

Where: Stan Head Cultural Center
Aegis Gardens of Newcastle
13056 SE 76th Street
Newcastle, WA 98056

When: Tuesday, September 24, 2019

4:00 – 6:30 p.m. Open House

Drop in at any time to learn more about creosote contamination at Quendall Terminals, the new technology for the cleanup, and EPA's proposed plans. This will be a chance to talk one-on-one with experts, ask questions, and learn more.

6:30 – EPA Presentation and Public Comment

The EPA project manager will present the proposed plans and EPA's preferred alternatives for the Quendall Terminals Cleanup. The presentation will be followed by an opportunity for you to state your comments for the record on the proposed cleanup plans. As a resident and area stakeholder, your knowledge and perspective are important. Final decisions on the cleanups will be made only after public comments are considered.

Documents are available for review:

Cleanup alternatives are described in detail in the Proposed Plans for Quendall Terminals. Our fact sheet summarizes our preferred alternatives. The proposed plans, fact sheet, supporting documents, and site information are available on EPA's Quendall Terminals Site Page: www.epa.gov/superfund/quendall-terminals
